Pedagogical Innovations

22.1-10.2.2023

"Education is no longer about teaching students something alone: it is more important to be teaching them to develop a reliable compass and the navigation tools to find their own way in a world that is increasingly complex, volatile and uncertain. Our imagination, awareness, knowledge, skills and, most important, our common values, intellectual and moral maturity, and sense of responsibility is what will guide us for the world to become a better place."

Andreas Schleicher- Director for Education and Skills OECD

The rapid changes, which characterize the times we live, impose a considerable challenge to the educational systems around the world. As questions and concerns about unprecedented social and economic challenges became increasingly urgent, these systems need to consider developing education for the best future carefully.

There is a need to step back and look at the bigger picture to see the longer-term challenges facing education to guide students to navigate wellbeing for themselves, their community, and the planet. Thus, primary and secondary schools aim to develop competencies such as creativity, initiative, inventiveness, and personal qualities within all the standards and performance indicators to apply the 21st-century skills that are necessary to adapt to our changing world. Therefore, the innovative educational policy must be anchored in the specific skills and pedagogic methods of the different academic disciplines.

Another main point to consider is the position of the educators as role models in a dynamic and social process where individuals alone, or in collaboration, identify opportunities for innovation. In this process, it is essential to build up the educators' skills to act upon these aspects by transforming ideas into practical and targeted activities, whether in a social, cultural or economic context.

The pedagogical methods should promote the following:

- * Open learning - in which learning outcomes determined by the students.
- * Active learning - different situations in which students choose the areas of implementation for their projects.
- * Learning experiences beyond the classroom- with different information sources.
- * A learning atmosphere - which promotes and fosters collaboration and teamwork, encourages new ideas and creativity, tolerance for trial and error and tolerance of failures.
- * Thinking strategies - identification of significant questions, and problem-solving skills that clarify various points of view and lead to better solutions.

Aims

- To provide new tools and knowledge on the implementation and development of innovation in the educational system.
- To create tools for communication, collaboration and team work.
- To provide educational tools for quality innovative educational pedagogies.
- To support the integration and the implementation of 21st century education skills.
- To present innovative teaching methods for specific subject matters (science, language, etc.), as well as interdisciplinary/ subject areas, enabling participants to choose the methods and tools suitable to the particular needs of their environments.
- To empower the educational staff and promote their Innovation programs.

- Workshops.
- Analysis of educational planning through written material and professional visits.
- Meetings with institutional administrators and acquaintance with projects at the national and regional level.
- Simulations, panel discussions, and group work.
